

Bilateral Sinus Lift

Last Updated Tuesday, 29 August 2006

Maxillary Reconstruction with Bilateral Sinus Lift

This patient presented with a failing maxillary reconstruction. The entire fixed bridge kept coming loose. The patient was the wife of a man I had previously treated and she wanted to see if I could help her. This x-ray shows the lack of quality in the original work. That is not a post in the tooth. It is a file.