

Deaths From Heart And Related Diseases Coming Down In US But Still No 1 Killer

Deaths from cardiovascular disease (CVD) are coming down, but CVD remains the primary cause of death among Americans, said a new report by the American Heart Association (AHA). The report is published in the 17th December early online issue of Circulation, and is compiled by the AHA Statistics Committee and Stroke Statistics Subcommittee. [click link for full article]

Deaths from cardiovascular disease (CVD) are coming down, but CVD remains the primary cause of death among Americans, said a new report by the American Heart Association (AHA). The report is published in the 17th December early online issue of Circulation, and is compiled by the AHA Statistics Committee and Stroke Statistics Subcommittee. [click link for full article]

Read more at: <http://www.medicalnewstoday.com/articles/92684.php>.