

Cyclists: Keep On Pedaling But Beware Below

More and more people are riding bicycles for exercise and recreation. Heightened interest in the sport brings along an increased possibility of lower body injuries. [click link for full article]

More and more people are riding bicycles for exercise and recreation. Heightened interest in the sport brings along an increased possibility of lower body injuries. [click link for full article]

Read more at: <http://www.medicalnewstoday.com/articles/91862.php>.